Communities extinguish plans to divide 34th District Court

Any plan to divide the 34th District Court into two courts has lost its fire, members of the court's District Control Unit said last Thursday.

While it appears potential plans to open a 34 A District Court in Sumpter in the future are all but dead, in deference to the absence of Christine Gamber of Huron Township, head of the control unit, a vote was postponed until the next meeting slated for 3 p.m. June 15 at the Romulus based court.

Thirty-fourth District Judge Tina Brooks Green reminded the representatives of Romulus, Belleville, Sumpter and Van Buren townships that the two year window on possible division of the court created by state legislation over a year ago is quickly coming to a close.

Only Marvin Banotai, supervisor of Sumpter Township, said he still favored the splitting of the court, but said he would abide by the wishes of his fellow leaders in Huron and Van Buren townships.

Van Buren Supervisor David Jakoces who called the meeting last week, said he now favors keeping the five-municipality court in tact, but feels committed to having the court supply the highest quality service at the lowest cost to the communities' taxpayers.

Belleville Mayor Glenn Silvenis also said he would hate to see a District 34 and 34A division in the local court system.

Chief Judge William Szlinis said that the five communities in the 34th District are starting the new year in a plus situation financially, following the institution of hundreds of bookkeeping changes recommended by the Michigan Supreme Court following the disappearance of $270,000 in court funds several years ago.

An embezzlement trial involving the court's former administrator Nancy Schuette was actually going on in Detroit, while the court's control unit was meeting in Romulus last week.

Veteran Judge Henry Zaborowski attended the Romulus session also and said he was pleased to see such involvement by local communities.

A court funding agreement is currently being worked out by municipal representatives and then will have to be approved by local governmental bodies.

Treasurer James Napiorkowski and Finance Officer Donovan McGuire represented Romulus at the meeting.

Szlinis appeared Monday night at the Romulus City Council meeting and told the city officials there that it would be a tragedy if the 34th District Court broke into two sections.

He also praised the work to date by the new trio of women court officers, who are filling the void caused by the resignation of former court administrator Michael Ramsey.

The trio includes:

- Director of Probation Carol Bowman.
- Manager of the Criminal Division Clema Pond.
- Manager of Civil Division Oneita Davis.

With the new team concept developed by the court, Szlinis said the ultimate responsibility of operating the court rests with the sitting three judges. And that's the way it should be, Szlinis assured the Romulus officials.

Rites slated for former school board member

Former Romulus School Board member Jack D. Wilson died suddenly May 3, 1995 in his home in Myrtle Creek, Ore.

A memorial service will be conducted on May 16 at 7 p.m. in the Community United Methodist Church with the Rev. Brad Lewis officiating.

Mr. Wilson, son of the late Mary and Reuben Wilson, was born on Sept. 20, 1919 in Pennsylvania. He later moved to Romulus with his family and graduated from Romulus High School. Last year he visited Romulus and attended a high school alumni event, a family spokesman said.

While living in Romulus he owned Jack's Lounge on Merriam Road and was part owner of the old Sheraton Hotel, prior to moving to Oregon about two decades ago. He also

buyouts long over due

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Tired of being ignored by Wayne County government, a frustrated Mayor Beverly McAnally demanded action Monday night on issues related to Detroit Metro Airport expansion.

McAnally in a letter to County Commissioner Bruce Patterson stated if only the squeaky wheel gets the grease, then the county commission can expect the squeaks from Romulus to "escalate in volume and frequency."

McAnally told Patterson that city residents and business leaders are tired of being ignored by county government, while seeing the same leaders dealing on a timely basis with other entities.

"I have heard that plans are being developed to divert dollars from Wayne Metro Airport and Romulus, to further Wayne County's ambitions at Willow Run," McAnally said.

The mayor said, "Romulus has waited patiently for noise remediation efforts, while the county has continued to ignore not only its promises but also its efforts to bring relief to those residents, who live north and south of the airport within the city."

McAnally also chastised the county for not fulfilling its planned property exchange with the city, involving the takeover of the city's Department of Public Works offices on Goddard Road.

"To this date we have not had a bona-fide offer for our building," she continued, "nor has anyone even met with us to discuss the matter."

The city continues to wait, McAnally said, despite the fact that the county has purchased Salvation Army property and the Army already has had a ground-breaking ceremony for its new site.

Continuing her list of gripes, McAnally complained the county also had a role to play in the construction of Vining Road-Interstate-94 interchange. But now we understand it has reversed its position and its planned involvement, the mayor said.

McAnally said the city has tried to be team players, but that has not availed Romulus any of the consideration it deserves for the constant intrusion of county activities on the lives of city residents.

In conclusion, she asked Patterson to "inform the city of Romulus, when we can expect the county to begin to address these matters."

The City Council upon hearing McAnally's letter, approved a resolution supporting her action and demanding action on a number of pending business property deals.

Councilman William Wadsworth charged that many Romulus residents have had to place their lives on hold, because the county refuses to act on their property purchase needs.

Fireworks pact approved

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

The city's contract for a fireworks display on July 4th has been awarded to the Mad Bomber Fireworks Productions Inc. of River Rouge for up to $8,000.

Mayor Beverly McAnally said the city was prepared to commit $6,000 for the holiday fireworks and was hoping local businesses would contribute to that amount as they have in the past.

Because of the complexity of the bids, Parks and Recreation Director Brian Hitsky employed Quentin Robinson of Volcano Fireworks Co. to assist him in the bid decision.

After reviewing the two qualified bids, Robinson and Hitsky settled on the Mad Bomber's offer saying it offered a better variety, better artistic content and better value.

Hitsky also is in the process of putting together a special holiday committee for the creation of family style activities for the period around July 4th.

Since 1995 is the 25th anniversary of the city, Hitsky is being commissioned to help create a series of festivities to replace the cancelled Romulus Festival.

Hitsky is appealing to local church leaders and service club representatives to join in family program organization efforts.

City Cable Commissioner Gwen Sibert is working to arrange a prayer breakfast the morning of July 4, she hopes that local clergy and youth will help make that effort a success.

No time or location has been set for the breakfast, but Sibert said she hopes that it can be conducted at a local church.

Prybyla seeks re-election to Romulus City Council

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

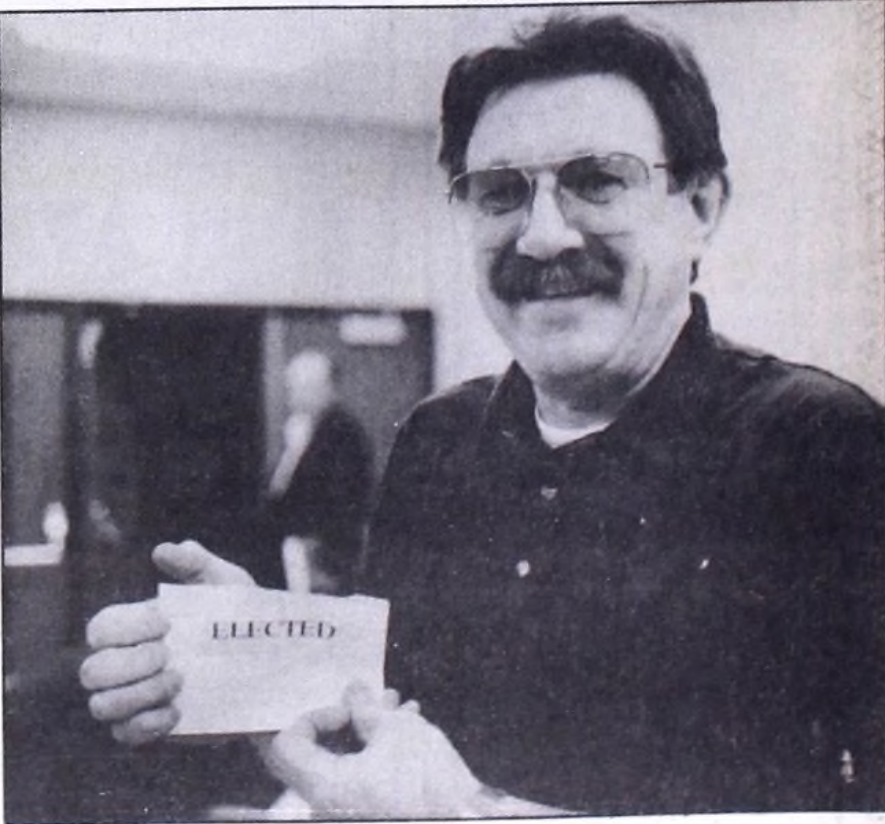

First term Romulus City Councilman Michael Prybyla, who finished in a tie vote with Mary Collins in 1993, is leaving nothing to chance this time around and has filed his petitions for re-election.

Prybyla won the heated election battle by picking the paper that said "elected" out of a box, following a recount in 1993. The other paper said "not elected," observers said.

One of the ironies of that election is that Collins voted for Prybyla, and thus gave him the vote that tied the election.

It is expected that Collins also will be seeking a council seat this year as a strong anti-injection well candidate. At the Monday night council meeting, Collins was the only person still to be displaying anti-well signs around her neck.

With only about 20 persons in the council chamber audience, one attendee laughed and quipped, "It almost looks

During the long-standing battle over the injection well, the chamber was usually packed with opposing forces.

Patricia R. Williams
Owner of the Stardust Lounge
3735 Inkster Rd. - Inkster

This year marks twenty years that Pat has been in the nightclub business. She has expanded her business to include a great variety of good food from gourmet to soul food, party-planning for social affairs such as retirement dinners, weddings, fund-raiser breakfast and dinners can be handled by Pat. The Stardust Lounge is known for its delicious food. Some of the best rib tips with her husband Dorsey's secret Bar-B-Q sauce and jumbo golden fried shrimp just name a few. The business has come full circle to include catering on and off premise.

Pat Williams has been very active in the community for years from sponsoring pageants for the young girls to giving one of the largest community picnics for years. The Stardust Oldies Picnics brought together people of all ages and all walks of life. Pat gives unselfishly to numerous charitable organizations such as Inkster Recreation Program, Optimist Club, and Inkster Athletic Association and many more. She truly wishes she could give more time but her business keeps her going strong.

Pat serves as Director on the Inkster Economic Development and TIFA Board. Board responsible for grants awarded in Beech-Daly expansion, Brittany Homes, and Michigan and Inkster Downtown Project just to name a few.

Pat has brought the Stardust to be a great place for meeting people. Thursday night is Comedy Night with your host Downtown Tony Brown from Def Jam Comedy Tour. Guest comedians include Mike Bonner, Tommy Chunn and many more. Friday nights Oldies but Goodies with Big "D" has proven to be an enjoyable night for the mature adults. Saturday night is party night - usually you are entertained by a live band or a rocking disc jockey playing some of the hottest tunes.

Pat knows the adversities facing her as being a young black woman in business but she has overcome them by being strong, righteous, doing the best she can to try to help her fellow man or woman in business or not. She has overcome a lot of naysayers. Prays help a lot too.

Pat is most thankful to her husband, Dorsey who has been there for her right from the start. Her staff helps her look good too. The love, direction and prayers of her mother, Mrs. Irene Franklin has seen her through a lot of good times and bad times.

Karen Wilson

Karen Wilson, president of Central Distributors of Beer, Inc. in Romulus, didn't plan on going into the family business, but now can't imagine any other career choice. She was the first woman to be appointed to the Anheuser-Busch wholesaler advisory panel.

Wilson, who holds a bachelor's degree from Michigan State University and a master's degree from Saginaw Valley State University in education, taught preschool for 10 years in the Utica Community School District before joining the firm, started in 1933 by her grandfather, John Gorsuch.

"I have a lot of emotional ties to this business," Wilson said. "I grew up in it. It was always a part of my life."

Both her parents worked at Central Distributors, as did her brother, John Colina, who served as chairman before his retirement.

Someday, Wilson hopes her own son will decide to enter the family business, which works hard to promote the responsible use of its product. "Responsibility is the key issue," Wilson said. "The abuse of our product is not good for us or for our product. We are for responsibility and education and we feel a real responsibility to get our message across."

Central Distributors sends its message by way of its involvement in a wide variety of alcohol task forces, safe-driving programs at holiday time, school projects and Students Against Driving Drunk chapters. In March, Central Distributors sponsored a presentation of "Make the Right Call", featuring Barbara Babb. This powerful video presentation deals with the consequences of illegal underage drinking and drunken driving. It was held at Romulus, Huron Township and Ecorse high schools. The company also holds training sessions for servers of alcohol.

In addition to its involvement in alcohol-related groups, Central Beer supports recycling Downriver, the Wyandotte Street Art Fair, Downriver Council for the Arts, Information Center, the Taylor/Wyandotte pistol match, Southern Wayne County Chamber of Commerce golf outing, Downriver Guidance Clinic, Trenton Mid-Summer Festival, Our Lady of Mount Carmel festival and many more events.

"In our business, people are always supporting us, and we want to give something back to the communities, too," Wilson said.

Lone bandit robs hotel clerk

A lone gentleman bandit robbed a night receptionist at the Crowne Plaza Holiday Inn Hotel on May 3 and fled before anyone else in the hotel knew anything unusual had happened.

Romulus police were told by the 22-year-old Romulus woman victim that the bandit entered the hotel office shortly before midnight. The bandit held his hand in his white suit jacket as if he had a weapon and demanded in a heavy Spanish accent, "Give me all your money," the victim said.

The bandit was described as a Mexican-American male, in his late 20s, standing about 5 feet 7 inches tall. He had a white suit jacket, black shirt and dark pants, police reported.

Groundbreaking slated May 20

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Despite the cancellation of the annual Romulus Festival, the planned ground-breaking ceremony for the Samuel R. Kingsley and Peter C. Bird homes will go on as scheduled, according to Pearl Varner, president of the Romulus Historical Society.

The ceremony will take place at 2 p.m. May 20 in Romulus Historical Park at Goddard Road and Hunt Street.

The Kingsley home, donated to the city by Eugene and Sylvia Perecki in 1993, will be moved later this year as a result of block grant funds.

The Victorian style home is now located at 37424 (just west of Five Points) and will be added to the Romulus Historical Park area, already inhabited by the local museum.

The move is being effected by the team efforts of the city, Historical Commission and the Romulus Historical Society.

Samuel R. and Polly Kingsley owned the property in 1855 and raised seven children in the large home.

Mr. Kingsley, a mercantile business operator for 15 years, also served as Romulus Postmaster for 19 years. The Historical Society revealed it wants to restore the home to its original Victorian style.

The second home, the Bird house, is a brick Italianate house that is listed in remarkably good condition, Varner said.

This unique home is currently owned by Wayne County, but is in the way of planned Detroit Metro Airport expansion.

Mr. Bird, a prominent local banker and businessman, built the home on what is now Wayne Road in about 1878, Varner said.

A Civil War veteran, who was wounded at Gettysburg Mr. Bird married Mary Jane Morris and they raised six children in that house. He organized banks in both Romulus and New Boston.

Historical authorities hope that the Bird house can be turned over to the city of Romulus by Wayne County, so that it too can be located in the historical park area of the city.

Banner session planned

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A planned Romulus Kiwanis Club banner donation to the City Council has spurred a policy study session on the hanging of such banners within the council chambers.

The study session is slated for 7 p.m. June 26 at the request of Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks in the council chambers.

The issue arose when Kiwanis Club President Helen Hay asked for permission to present a Kiwanis banner to be hung up in the City Council Chambers, similar to one already there from the Romulus Rotary Club.

Aware that Romulus has multiple service organizations and clubs, Banks said, "we might run out of wall space if all local clubs presented us with similar banners."

Banks also said some council officials had complained recently when Romulus Environmentalists Caring About People (RECAP) taped signs to the walls of the chambers during a Zoning Board of Appeals hearing.

"Since some banners could be presented even larger than the American flag," Banks said, "I think it would be wise to set a policy on such displays."

My personal opinion leans toward allowing organizations to install plaques identifying their group, rather than banners, Banks said, but we need to meet and set a council policy.

Banks asked Mayor Beverly McNally to pass on the policy study message to Hay. McNally agreed. The council supported the study request with a 5-0 vote. Councilmen Randy Gear and Noah "Peter" Bergeron were absent.

Council opposes state gas tax

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Opposition to the expected five to seven cent state gas tax was voted Monday night by the Romulus City Council.

The council at the urging of Mayor Beverly McNally, joined an effort recommended by Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara to oppose the gas tax, because it would not share any of the revenues with local governments.

McNamara's move reminded residents that it has been over 11 years since a state gas tax was increased and that the past "Build Michigan" was not a permanent solution to municipal road problems.

McNamara has said the five to seven cent effort also would not be sufficient to address current needs in Wayne County.

"Our older communities are not receiving adequate funding under Act 51 to maintain their local roads," he said, "and the bottom line is that local government needs are significant and Michigan drivers want smooth roads regardless of whether they are state, county or city roads."

Thus McNamara is urging all local governments in Wayne County to press their state legislators to oppose the gas tax effort.

Romulus councilmen are receiving so many complaints about road conditions that a possible local five-year road millage effort is being considered once again. A road millage referendum failed several years ago, but since roads have worsened dramatically since then, city leaders feel a local millage could pass this time.

Statewide expenditures for roads in Michigan is among the lowest in the nation.

Paul to head Chamber of Commerce

David Paul, head of the city building department, will be sworn in as new president of the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce at noon on May 24 at Shoney's Inn.

Paul has been a member of the chamber since 1989. He announced Tuesday morning that he is looking forward to the challenge of the presidency and hopes to devote the time needed for all the key chamber projects.

Paul, who will be sworn in by Mayor Beverly McNally, said he plans to include many items of city project developments in the chamber newsletter, since all members either live or work in the city.

David Goodwin will be sworn in as first vice president and former President Mark Lewkowicz will continue as second vice president. Sandra Franks of First of America Bank will be sworn in as secretary and Jason Lovette, a retired military officer and educator, will continue as treasurer.

Lopez heading for Clinton conference

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Frank Lopez, a Romulus based industrial leader heavily involved with school partnership programs here, has been invited to join a White House Conference on Small Business next month.

Lopez, head of Aztec Manufacturing Corp. on Oakwood Drive, earlier this month was named to the Out-Wayne County School-to-Work's First Governance Board.

Tomorrow, Lopez will be traveling to Chicago where regional concerns for the Midwest will be aired and planned for the Washington meeting.

On June 2, he is invited to a breakfast reception at the Ford World Headquarters, where he and other new board members will be introduced to the press.

A private board meeting then will follow.

Next month, 36 Michigan delegates will travel to Washington for the conference June 11-15. It will be the first such White House session since 1986, Lopez said, and one of the recommendations we will be making is that the conferences be conducted once every four years.

Frank Lopez

Lopez is proud of his recent record of growth. He began in Ecorse with three employees and then moved to Romulus several years ago, where he created jobs for 27 persons. Today, still growing in Romulus, Lopez has 96 employees and counts Ford Motor Co. as one of his key customers.

Extra sports teams are blocked for now

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

The tight financial conditions of the Romulus School District, forced Superintendent of Schools Dr. William Bedell to remove a $20,000 proposal to add three ninth-grade sports off the table at the School Board meeting Monday night.

Art McPharlin, administrative assistant to Bedell, said the superintendent studied other MEGA League schools and found Romulus athletic offerings were comparable with many other schools.

Romulus will be entering the MEGA League this fall.

The sports teams the district was considering were 9th grade tennis, basketball and volleyball.

McPharlin said he felt the additional team issue is probably dead until the district's finances improve substantially.

Day of prayer meet attracts more than 30

More than 30 local Christians turned out last Thursday for the fourth National Day of Prayer session conducted outside Romulus City Hall.

The prayer activity (the 44th consecutive nationally recognized one) links with thousands of similar sessions conducted around the nation, was coordinated by Victor Parker of the Romulus Wesleyan Church.

Parker offered the welcoming address and later prayers for the local churches.

Local pastors offered prayers for healing for the Oklahoma City blast victim's families, as well as other needs in the nation, state, county, Mayor Beverly McNally's office, Romulus City Council and the school district.

Other participants included the Revs. Donald (Mike) McClellan, Arthur Willis, Neil Swanger, and Brad Lewis, and two local Salvation Army leaders Capt. Roger Senn and his assistant, David Hudgens.

In between the prayers, those gathered sang Amazing Grace, and other Christian hymns.

The theme of this year's national series of prayers was "Seek His Face" and included many references quoted from our founding fathers and 16th President Abraham Lincoln.

Focus on future

Educators study their roles in the 21st century

An interactive forum, hosted by the Wayne County Regional Educational Service Agency (RESA) at Romulus High School, launched a series of discussions about the future of education.

The forum raised the question, "What does it mean to be an educated person in the 21st Century?"

According to RESA Superintendent Michael Flanagan, the May 3 discussion involved parents of all school-age children plus representatives of business, community activists, educators and other adults.

Flanagan said the conference offered a unique opportunity for individuals to provide input that can affect future policy on public education.

The interactive forum, staged in Romulus, drew hundreds of participants, Flanagan said.

It was the first of several events which are planned to gather information, comments and suggestions from the public about education in the next century.

Four teleconferences are slated on May 18, Aug. 29, Oct. 19 and Nov. 16 that will involve up to 200 school districts simultaneously.

The forums and conferences will provide information for two education summits scheduled this fall for state legislators and policy makers.

In Romulus, Superintendent of Schools Dr. William Bedell said he expects the pace of life to escalate even more for students, parents and workers in the 21st Century.

Citizens will need to be well read and well informed, Bedell said, and will have to be flexible in dealing with both people and technology.

Schools in Romulus have had high levels in computer activities for the past three years since an earlier passage of a $45 million technology referendum.

Computers are now available to all students in the district, and a heavy learning emphasis is based in the Smart Lab (training of middle school students for the 21st Century).

The Smart lab provides students with scores of vocational projects, to supplement the many other educational programs in the district's schools.

Bedell feels that technology will dominate the family life in the 21st Century, but realizes that computers are not the final answer in education today.

Despite the advent of hundreds of computers into the schools, Romulus students are still struggling with their annual Michigan Education Assessment Program (MEAP) scores. Thus Romulus top educators are working to instill numerous changes in the system that hopefully will add motivation to the school day and parental support both at home and within the schools themselves.

Camp program eases minds

Good things come to those who wait - like campsites at Michigan State Parks. Campers will be pleased to learn a new centralized reservation system will provide one stop shopping for Michigan State Park campers without the hassle of making individual reservations at each site.

Campers will be able to use a toll-free number to reserve campsites at 90 campgrounds in the Michigan State Park system that began April 17. The toll-free number will eliminate the problems and delays associated with individual state park reservation systems.

A temporary moratorium on campsite reservations was necessary so that reservations forms taken prior to March 13 could be entered into the new system. Reservations mailed to state parks will be returned to the sender after this date.

"We apologize to our loyal state park visitors for any inconvenience caused during this moratorium," said O.J. Scherschligt, Chief of the Department of Natural Resources Parks and Recreation Division. "When the new system goes on-line, we plan to fulfill our promise of providing a convenient, efficient service to assist you with all of your vacation plans."

We can't say enough about our nurses.

In honor of National Nurses Week, May 6-12, we take great pride saluting our dedicated, compassionate, and talented nurses. The people who work around-the-clock to care for patients throughout the Oakwood Healthcare System.

We support this year's nationwide celebration with a special theme symbolizing the warmth and humanity nurses bring to their profession.

Nurses: Caring Hearts, Touching Lives.

We believe nurses are truly "the heart of healthcare." It's the special kindness, warmth, skill, and professionalism nurses offer our patients that makes the hospitals in the Oakwood Healthcare System safe, comforting places to rest, heal, and recover.

While we will never be able to say enough about our nurses, we are pleased to express our sincere gratitude and appreciation to every one of them.

Study

Romulus also has installed a MEAP academy program during the summer to help struggling students with certain MEAP test subjects, but have found that some of the youth who need the academy the most will not enroll, Bedell said.

Thus, Middle School Principal Daniel Hurst has created a system, where failing grades create automatic extra study classes. The school board is debating whether such mandatory classes should be made district wide.

Having an education will be a top priority in the 21st century for three different reasons, according to Wayne-Westland Community School Superintendent Larry Thomas.

First, it will be a requirement for all good employment opportunities. Employers want people who can communicate and educated people can communicate both verbally and in writing, Thomas said.

Second, if we like it or not, technology is part of our future. Educated people understand the positive uses of technology.

Third, we now live in a time when people will receive and lose many positions jobs, and other important elements of their lives. An education is something no can take away from you. It is yours for life and it will help develop a positive self image that will be needed to have a happy life in the 21st century, according to Thomas

Plymouth-Canton Superintendent Charles Little said people have to be mentally equipped to deal with global competition in the future. In order to do that there needs to be a mind set to change and adjust to do things differently.

Little thinks when people are cognizant of history they will accept change. He is concerned when he sees nostalgia.

"People listen to old records, watch old movies like Lassie and look backward to a comfort level," Little said.

It's important to look forward to see change. Little says you must be intellectually alert to make changes.

"No one goes to the grave in the same position they are in now," Little said.

A&D Equipment

Have you ever stopped to think that it might be to your advantage not to own the equipment your business uses? The equipment or machinery necessary to your line of work may be more profitably used if you lease it rather than own it. Leasing allows you to avoid a major capital outlay since it requires no large down payment. For the same reason, it can improve your cash flow. A&D Equipment can supply area concerns with the equipment they require through a leasing arrangement tailored to their particular needs.

Located in Canton Township at 5601 Belleville Street, phone 397-1840, A&D Equipment offers flexible, short or long term lease programs on contractor's equipment and machinery. They will always quote you competitive rates and they offer many leasing options. You won't waste time waiting on approval here because confirmation on your leasing plan is given quickly.

A&D Equipment was founded to provide what area concerns need, when they need it, for as long as they need it—without the necessity of purchase. They invite you to call or come by if you have questions about the advantages of leasing or if you want to discuss your leasing needs. A&D Equipment is here to serve you.

Prize winner

Cooking is joy to Belleville cookie baker

By GRETCHEN MADICK
MCN Staff Writer

Belleville resident Joy Cichewicz was selected as the 1995 finalist in the Michigan's Best Chocolate Chip Cookie contest, sponsored by Zehnder's of Frankenmuth and Michigan Living.

Her prize-winning recipe was one of 20 finalists of the 650 entries.

The cookies were judged on ease of preparation, unique ingredients or procedures and practicality.

Food editors and columnists from Michigan newspapers selected the winners, who received $100 and a dinner for two at Zehnder's. The overall favorite cookie baker received $500 and a weekend for two at Zehnder's Bavarian Haus.

Cichewicz entered the contest in March, but didn't anticipate that she would win anything.

"Years ago I entered a contest and they gave a percentage off a dinner at Zehnder's as a prize, so I thought I'd send in my recipe," Cichewicz said. "I figured they'd send a gift certificate as a consolation prize."

Two weeks before the contest date her mother was expected to arrive from Houston, and Cichewicz was graduating from college. In the middle of all the activity, she was notified that she was in the finals, and in order to participate, she needed to travel to Frankenmuth.

"We had a great time. Seventy to 80 people were there. You could bring all your family members."

Zehnder's offered classes in baking, flower arranging and cooking taught by chefs to the finalists.

Cichewicz was asked to bring two dozen cookies for tasting. She had the opportunity to taste 20 other cookie recipes. The cookies were broken into the following categories: chunk, peanut butter, oatmeal and nut.

"The winner's cookies were all gone by the time I got to them," Cichewicz said.

Cichewicz based her recipe on a friend's advice. Her friend said Symphony Bars are the best chocolate made, so Cichewicz cut up toffee and almond ones for the recipe. She added straight brown sugar, real butter and based the recipe on the one on the back of a package of chocolate chips.

"It was not complicated enough. That's why I didn't win," Cichewicz said. "Next time I'll make them more elaborate. I don't follow recipes. I'm a throw-together cook. She admitted, "I had to work on measuring and getting a recipe that could be reworked."

If she cooks something her family likes, they ask if she knows how she made this one.

"I try to remember. I had to think, don't just throw in so much vanilla and flour, measure it."

Baking since she was a little

girl, Cichewicz admits to not doing it as much as she used to.

"If I make a pie, it's gone in an instant. You have to triple a recipe to get it to last and then you're eating a billion, trillion calories," she said.

Cichewicz has three children, Melanie, 14, Andy, 13, and Derek, 10. Andy is the baker. He likes to cook, fry stuff.

To Find The Shortest Distance
Between You And A New Home,
Just Follow A Straight Line.

Well, Sort Of Straight.

NBD Mortgage Information Hotline.® 1-800-583-INFO.

NBD To get information about getting a new home, get to the phone and call the NBD Mortgage Information Hotline. It's a free, 24-hour automated line that can tell you everything from how much house you can afford to how much it will cost you. And during business hours, you can choose to connect to a Mortgage Representative who can begin the approval process right over the phone. So call 1-800-583-4636 now, and you'll be surprised how straight – and fast – the line is between you and a new home.

No matter how great the tragedy, the human spirit always prevails.

Jim and Nancy Blair of Oklahoma City can attest to that. My wife and I broke bread with the couple while spending the weekend out-of-state.

Utilizing the Oklahoma City bombing as an ice-breaker as we all sat around the table at a Japanese steakhouse, we learned that the Blairs, owners of a Dodge dealership, were intimately involved with the disaster.

We all remember the photo of a small child draped in blood being hauled out of the wreckage by a firefighter. That child was the daughter of an employee at the Blair dealership.

It was a sad, sad several days for the Blairs, their employees and Oklahomans in general. However, as news of the tragedy spread, so did acts of kindness. Jim and Nancy Blair claim to have been overcome by the many acts of kindness and the money that has been sent to help those in need from people all over the world.

Here at Michigan Community Newspapers, we too are trying to spearhead a drive to do our part for those that experienced the Murrah federal building bombing. For each subscription we sell in the next couple of weeks, a portion of the revenue received will be sent to Oklahoma City. So if you've been thinking of buying a subscription, now would be a good time because not only would you get a great newspaper weekly, but you'd be helping the relief cause in Oklahoma City. How about it?

The on-again, off-again proposed Canton Post Office is indeed the type of project that newly elected Congresswoman Lynn River (D-Ann Arbor) needs to make happen. It is a travesty that the federal government has not seen fit to locate a post office in this community of nearly 75,000 residents.

Rep. Rivers, being of the same political persuasion as President Clinton, ought to have enough clout to assure the residents of Canton their own post office soon. That is why I find it particularly upsetting when the Great Lakes Area postal headquarters claimed they had no plans to proceed with a full-service post office before 1999.

However, a week later Rep. Rivers reported that the decision has been reversed and a post office would be built in 1997. I hope she is right. Canton deserves a post office. Canton needs a post office. This is a can't lose issue for Rivers, and one that will make her a lot of friends if she can deliver. Here's hoping she has the political muscle to make it happen.

I would like to publicly offer my condolences to longtime Michigan Community Newspapers (formerly Associated Newspapers) employee Dorothy Jacobs, who lost her husband, Charles E. Jacobs, the retired pastor of the Wayne First United Methodist Church. Charles was a man with great conviction and integrity. Although he had been struggling with heart problems for 11 years, he was very active in the church and community and took a keen interest in Dorothy's tasks at the newspaper.

Charles will be remembered fondly by Dorothy, four children, nine grandchildren, and thousands of friends he made at churches in Chesaning, LaPorte, Cass River, Saginaw, Epworth, Onaway, and of course his final stop, Wayne.

Responsibility shared

While educators ponder over plans to equip students for the job markets in the 20th Century, it must be remembered that part of the responsibility for preparing young people for the future is their own.

The most advanced technology, the best tools and equipment and the finest teachers cannot do their best without the cooperation of the students.

Young people who want to be successful in the future must prepare themselves by investigating the opportunities available, seeking good advice from counselors and acting on it. They must bypass the easy courses for the challenging classes if they are aiming at success and also be willing to "pay their dues," rather than to opt for the easy way out.

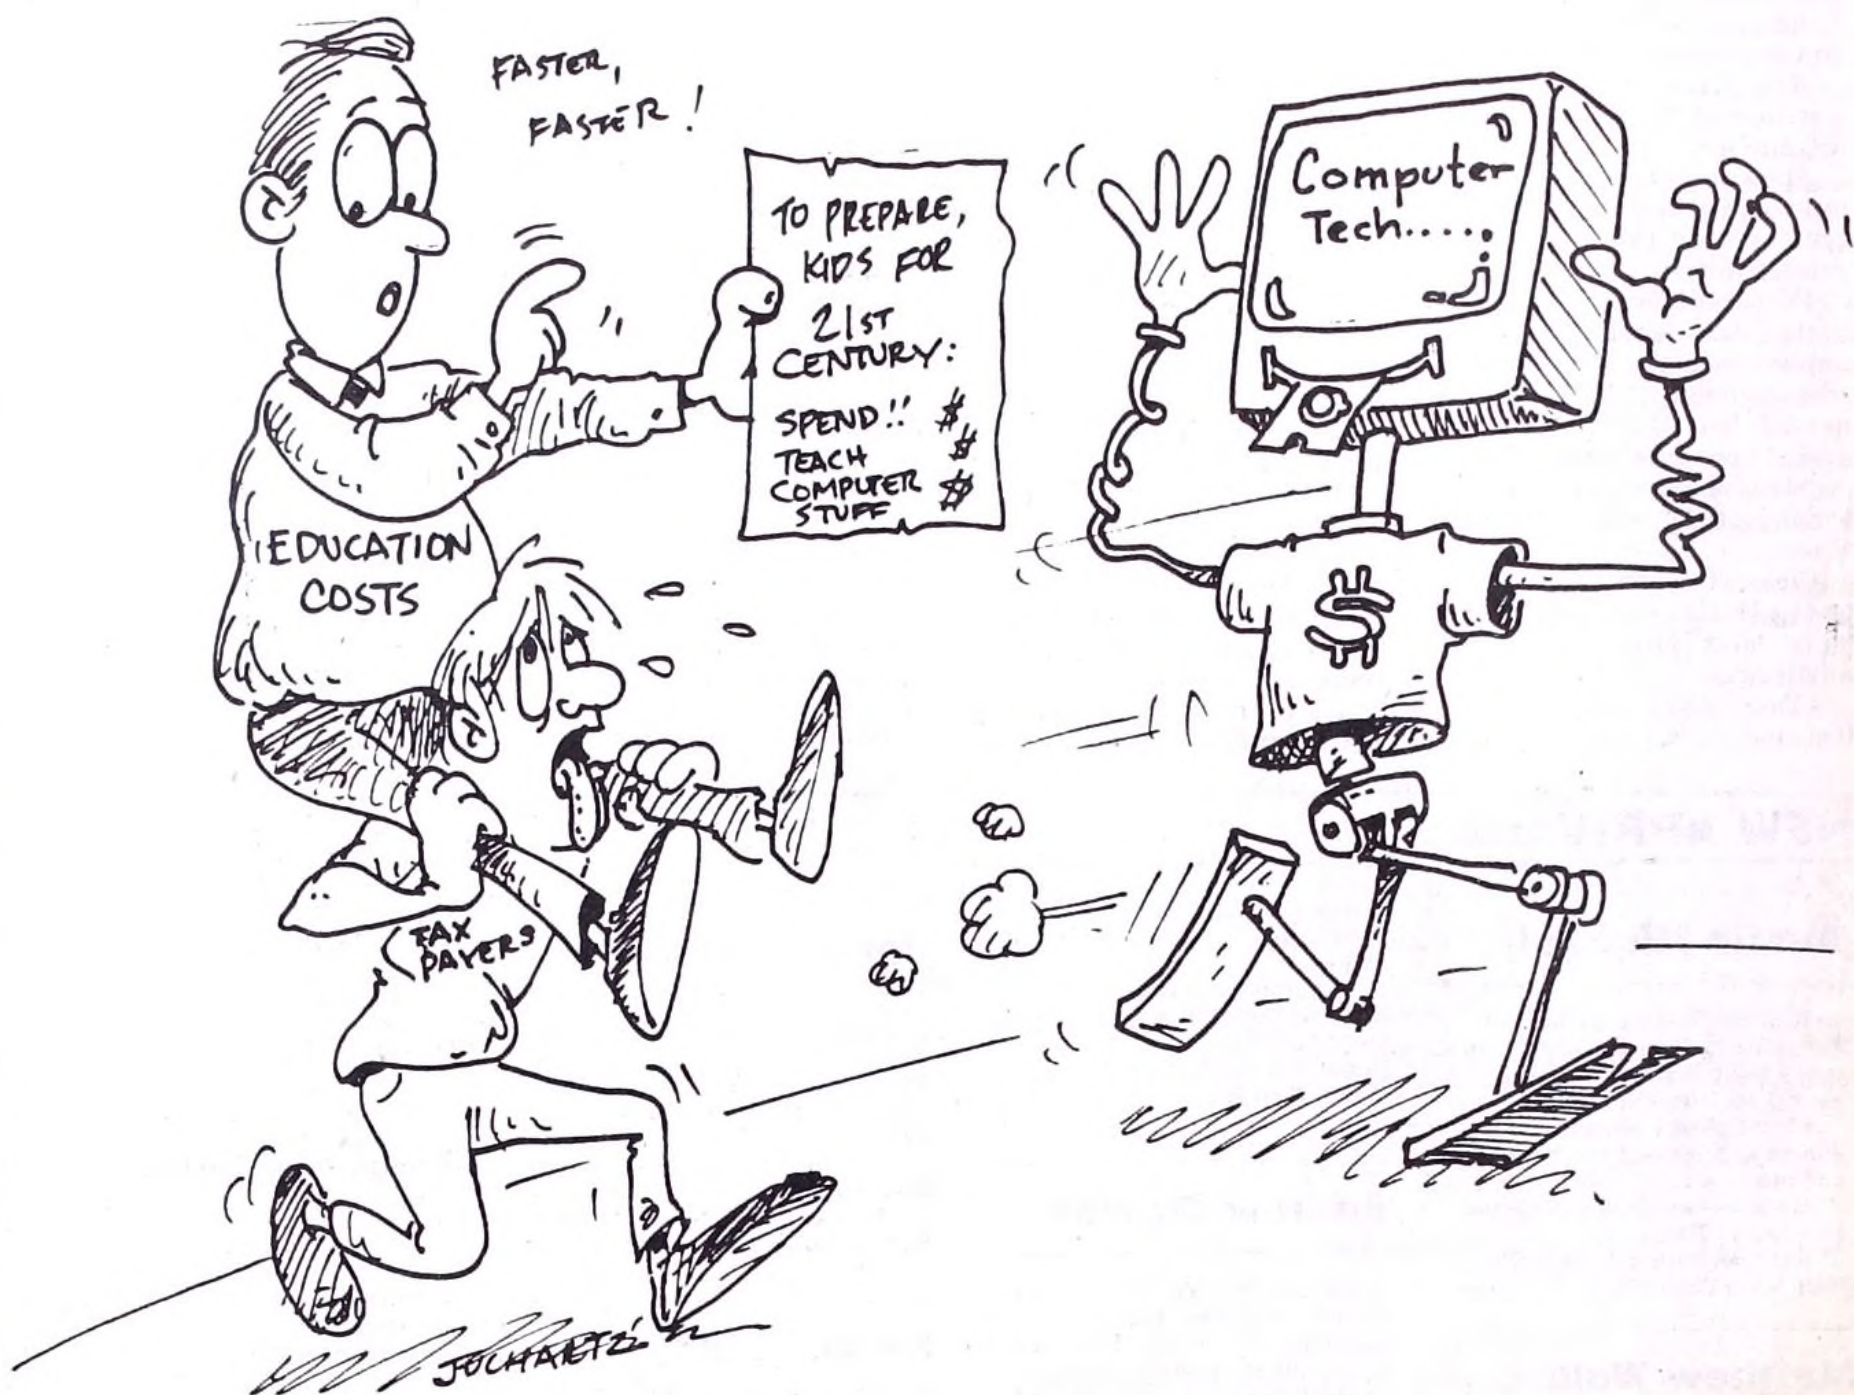

When we hear complaints by young people that

Mike's musings

Mike Wilcox

Why not gamble here?

To the editor:

In reading the newspapers, watching the news, listening to the radio and talking with many Romulus people who go to Canada regularly to play the gaming machines and the tables, I thought - Why Not - why should other states and countries and Northern Michigan and possible Detroit reap all the benefits Casino Gaming has to offer.

First and foremost - Lots of Jobs - Second - Monies to the city their in - Third - A very nice structure and possibly shops to shop around in.

Crime - I have article after article on Casinos and crime is not an argument. The people in Romulus and certainly in my area have put up with and learned to live with, The Airport, that has our windows vibrating and the best part of a movie interrupted an have had to stop talking on the phone many times while the planes took people, possible to Las Vegas or Northern Michigan to the Casinos. Times change and cities are suppose to grow. What have we gained with the airport? What have we gained with trucking companies all over the place? Wouldn't it be nice to shop in our own hometown and have a nice place to eat. Why should gambling be at a fair and not in a nice structure that only adds to the city.

What are we waiting for - MacNamara to put machines at the airport for passengers only. Really! Are we going to leave ourselves out again? We need to grow in positive ways and I personally believe gaming would only benefit Romulus and you know what, if you don't like it, then you don't have to go. Why shouldn't we put something positive in Romulus so people have a place to go instead of putting monies in other cities and countries. Crime you say! Look around - and we don't have gaming.

Gambling you say! Everytime we drive a car - we gamble. When we smoke - we gamble. When someone drinks - they gamble. When we have children - we gamble. How you ask - giving child birth and then hoping that everything we teach them will keep them out of trouble. You can argue but life is as gaming as a casino.

You know what? Husbands and Wives - Boyfriends and Girlfriends can go together to a casino - Can they or do they go to the Landing Strip together? Finally, there is know reason to believe anything but something positive would happen if we had this asset and the surrounding communities could enjoy this with us instead of going to Detroit and Canada to have a fun evening.

Thanks - its just a thought - but a positive one.

Fund-raiser was success

To the editor:

On behalf of Wayne Masonic Lodge 112, F&AM and my wife, Florence, I want to thank you for your participation in, and support of, our project to raise funds for the expenses related to the impending double lung transplant for Gregory Unger.

It would be difficult to mention everyone individually and some contributors wish to remain anonymous. Nonetheless, it is important to recognize the following persons and business for their personal or monetary contribution and to note that numerous others assisted in different ways to make this community service project a success:

Metro Wayne Democratic Club; Beth Seacord; Jennifer Seacord; Mr. and Mrs. Sam E. Favors; Enertrails Inc. of Westland; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mitera; Al's Market of Wayne; the Senior Warden's Circuit;

Neil Prieskorn; Roger D. Moore; Earl F. Shepard; The Pink Degree; Paul Wolfe; The Downriver Scottish Rite Club; John Moore; employees of the Romulus Engine Plant; Moslem Temple Shrine Clow; The Wayne Eagle; Cablevision Inc. of Wayne; Business Letter Inc. of Royal Oak and; J.N.S. Meats Inc., of Allen Park.

The combined efforts of those named above and all who assisted, but remain unnamed, helped make the following possible: After expenses $3,333!

First militia explained

To the editor:

Lest we forget, and before all citizen militias get a bad name as a consequence of the Oklahoma City bombing, we need to review our own history and remember the horrible abuses our government once committed against us.

There was a time when our government cut off our business trade with all parts of the world and impoverished many of our people; a time when our government imprisoned thousands of indefinitely, for no good or justifiable reason, depriving them all of trial by jury.

There was a time when our government kidnapped many of our citizens, forcing them to choose between fighting against and killing the rest of us, or being shot dead themselves.

At that time it was a citizen militia which bravely came to our defense under the leadership of people like George Washington and declared the independence which firmly cut all ties with our government in England.

It was the first citizen militia which fought our first government to remove its troops from our soil.

That militia continued protecting us while its leaders wrote our Articles of Confederation and later authored a Constitution which learned people worldwide still recognize as a work of genius. Our Constitution guaranteed then and now that the tyranny under which we once lived, the horrible abuses we once suffered by the hand of our government, could never happen again.

If we assembled into one document all complaints made by today's militia, they would not equal one scintilla of the government oppression which brought the first U.S. citizen militia into being.

Today we have a nation of 260 million people, the strongest and most prosperous nation on the face of the earth.

It seems like today's militia-men have been free and independent for so long they no longer remember or know what government oppression really is. Today's problems pale in comparison to those faced by our forefathers and our first citizen militia.

Many of us share many of the concerns expressed by today's militia about self-aggrandizement of the federal government; we generally agree the price of freedom is eternal vigilance; but there is no threat existing today, and will not likely be during any of our lifetimes, which would justify any armed intervention against our government; a government which still protects us from foreign troops, no matter what flag they fly.

With relatively few exceptions, we are still one nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all, thanks to selfless sacrifices made by our first citizen militia.

Today's militia, our friends and neighbors who "love our country but fear our government," could learn a lot from the experience of their predecessors.

Homes needed for children

To the editor:

Methodist Children's Home Society is again campaigning to recruit foster families for children up to 14, and we are seeking your assistance in our recruitment efforts.

Every day, many children are left without a place to go due to neglect, abandonment or abuse. Methodist Children's Home Society seeks to find homes for these children through public advertising in newspapers such as yours. We can't express how important your support is to our agency.

If you have questions or need additional information, please contact me at 531-9942. Thank you for your willingness to help us help children who desperately need loving homes and families.

Some depend on buses

To the editor:

Once again we are going to the election polls. This time (on May 24) we'll be voting (on pros and cons) on the Smart Bus.

I, like many others, want to help these people who really need this bus. I'm in sympathy with them. They should have it.

On the opposite, those are saying what's to say if we vote for it, that next year or so we will be asked again for more millage, can they promise us that? Then too, can they regulate those picked up, not to pick up one at a time to their destination, but organize that so more people are picked up each time.

People call me on this and I have no answer to give them. Don't desert these people in need, but organize a better system.

Board says 'thanks'

To the editor:

The Board of Education of the Westwood Community School District extends special thanks to all Inkster residents of our district for their support in the April 25 millage election. We thank them for passing both proposals.

The 18-mill renewal will help us maintain our operational budget and programs now offered. The 3-mill enhancement will allow us to provide a full-day kindergarten for our youngest children, to convert elementary school libraries to media centers, and to increase computer technology that will help students obtain jobs or access higher education with skills required today.

We sincerely thank all members of the community who volunteered their help as well as members of our administration and staff who contributed extra hours to telephone parents and fiends. It was a winning team effort.

Anger at root of bombings

To the editor:

The bombing of the Federal Building in Oklahoma City was an unspeakable abomination committed by total cowards.

Speculation as to the identity of the cowardly perpetrators is rampant. Was it Middle Eastern terrorists, local religious zealots, ultra-conservative fanatics or a lone madman? At this point no one really knows.

Since the location of the blast was decidedly "un-Middle Eastern," much speculation is centering on the possibility that an anti-government white supremacist group may be involved.

Remember - the mood of the country was decidedly anti-Washington during the 100 days of the Republican Contract with America, and the possibility that a fanatical group may have become emboldened can not be ruled out.

Just days before the blast, President Bill Clinton spoke of the frustrations of our "angry white males." Indeed, our national talk show psyche has seemed to be getting angrier and angrier in recent months.

If this scenario proves to be the case - I believe it is time to tone down our rhetoric and start listening again. The frustrations of women, blacks, Hispanics and other minorities have been well documented by our media.

It may be time to encourage our "angry white males" to come forward and have their concerns heard by the government.

Violence and destructive behaviors are frequently the response of people who feel desperately frustrated, left out and ignored. This may be a time for our leaders to stop talking and start listening.

Much can be learned by just listening.

Sound-Off silenced by technical problem

Last week, a technical problem prevented callers from accessing our Sound-Off 729-4006 line, but we are back "on line" and ready to receive calls from individuals who wish to comment on items of general interest.

The line is open between 5 p.m. and 8 a.m. weekdays and at any time during the weekends. Callers may dial 729-4006 and leave a message about any subject - articles that have appeared in our recent editions, local happenings or comments on national issues.

People who call are not required to identify themselves, however, they are asked to refrain from profanity and personal attacks on individuals.

We are interested in hearing comments on the following questions?

• Are the schools preparing our students for the 21st Century?

• Do we need regional buses? Can the SMART service fill that need?

• Should the government take a stronger role in halting militant dissenters?

• Would you be willing to have your personal freedom diminished to ensure that bombings and acts of terrorism could be prevented?

• Do you believe residents of Western Wayne County should be allowed to vote for Recorder's Court judges whose jurisdiction includes the Western Wayne County area?

Community newspaper states its platform

As the hometown newspaper serving six Western Wayne County cities and townships, Michigan Community Newspapers pledges to focus its primary attention on the needs, concerns and goals of its residents.

Our place in the community, we believe, is to be a leader, not a follower. In keeping with that commitment, we will strive to evaluate the needs of the communities we serve and editorially support the legislation, programs and proposals that will have a positive impact on Western Wayne County.

Our goals for Western Wayne County are:

- Positive economic growth by expanding and diversifying the employment base, encouraging unified marketing efforts to attract new business developments, and supporting legislation designed to improve the economic climate.
- Quality education by implementing high academic standards, increasing cooperation between parents, teachers, administrators and businesses, and developing curricula that address the job markets of the 21st Century.
- Safe communities by supporting the passage of laws and ordinances to combat crimes and which include penalties that serve as viable deterrents. We also support such programs as the Drug Awareness Resistance Education and other anti-drug efforts, and support the involvement of citizens in Neighborhood Watch programs and other community-police cooperative efforts.
- Environment responsibility for all citizens in their purchasing, use and disposal of products, and the careful monitoring of existing waste disposal sites and extreme caution in future site approvals.
- Fairness in taxation with the burden shared as equally as possible by all segments of the community, and an accompanying fiscal responsibility from taxing units to be accountable and prudent in their spending of the taxpayers' dollars.
- Support of local cultural endeavors by encouraging area artists, craftsmen, entertainers and performers and supporting their efforts to organize and maintain local theater, art and entertainment productions.

there are no jobs available, other than those at the minimum wage level, we cannot help but wonder if these students have taken the initiative to gain skills through high school, adult education or college courses.

Yes, we need the technology to succeed in the future, but we also need young people to take advantage of the opportunities available.

Families honor mothers with gifts of affection

God could not be everywhere, and therefore he made mothers, according to an ancient proverb

While mothers have been honored by their sons and daughters throughout history, it has been less than 100 years since an official observance was established.

Anna Jarvis, a West Virginia school teacher who was devoted to her mother, decided to establish a special day to honor mothers in the early 1900.

She felt that many mothers were neglected by their grown children, who were preoccupied by their own families, and she believed a special day set aside for mothers would rectify the neglect.

Anna Jarvis' mother died on May 9, 1905, and despite the fact that she had been a devoted daughter, she was troubled by all of the things that she had not done for her mother and the words she had not said to her.

In 1907, on the second Sunday of May, she invited a group of friends to her Philadelphia home and announced her idea for a yearly nationwide celebration of motherhood - an annual Mother's Day.

Jarvis met with unanimous support from, not only her group of friends, but parents and children throughout the country.

Early in 1908, she wrote to the superintendent of the Sunday School where her mother had taught a religion class for 20 years and suggested that the local church would be an ideal location for a celebration in her mother's honor, and also an opportunity to honor all mothers.

The first Mother's Day service was conducted in Grafton, W.Va., on May 10, 1908, and attended by 407 children and their mothers. At the conclusion of the service, Anna Jarvis presented each mother and child with a carnation - her mother's favorite flower.

The presentation launched a tradition, which continues through the present time. Usually, pink or red carnations are worn by mothers and their children. A white carnation is often worn in memory of mothers who are deceased.

Anna Jarvis began a letter-writing campaign to promote Mother's Day as a national holiday, which culminated with the establishment of Mother's Day on May 8, 1914. President Woodrow Wilson signed a proclamation designating the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day.

Ironically, Anna Jarvis never married and was never able to be personally honored on the day she worked so diligently to establish.

Gratitude is the hardest of all emotions to express.

There is no word capable of conveying all that one feels.

Until we reach a world where thoughts can be adequately expressed in words, "thank you" will have to do. A.P. Gouthey

Chrysler adds Sebring to its list of hits for 1995

By JUSTIN WILCOX
MCN Automotive Writer

Whatever the engineers at Chrysler are drinking, they should seriously consider bottling it and selling it to the general public.

Their hit list consists of the Viper, the Ram, the Neon, the Intrepid, the Stratus and now just when we all thought Chrysler was stopping to take a breath, they throw another winner at us named Sebring for Chrysler, and Avenger for Dodge.

This handsomely styled two-door sports coupe bears a strong resemblance in shape to the price gouging Mercedes 300 SL. The beauty of the Sebring LXi that I tested is that it costs under twenty grand almost fully equipped. Walk into a Mercedes showroom with this sum and hey will say: "Thank you for the down payment. I will be happy to turn over the keys just as soon as you give me the remaining seventy grand."

The Sebring shares its platform with Mitsubishi's sport sedan, the Galant. It also borrows its interior from the Mitsubishi Eclipse. Although it may sound that it is pieced together, the Sebring is a very solid car whose build quality is top notch for the price bracket it is placed in.

The car's styling is subtle, however, I received many glances from people on the highway, and have had people approach me wondering what kind of car it was. To me, this in itself is an impressive feature. Many of today's new cars are styled very similarly, making their appeal for individuality a moot point in buyer's

The Sebring LXi comes equipped with a 155 horsepower, 24-valve, SOHC V-6 engine matched to a Chrysler 4-speed automatic transmission.

On V-6 equipped models, automatic transmission is the only option available. A bit unusual, but the package works well together, providing crisp, smooth shifts.

With an MPG rating of 20 in the city and 28 on the highway, the Sebring is pretty economical to operate during your daily commute.

All Sebrings ride on a four-wheel, fully independent double wishbone suspension that provides an outstanding balance of ride, comfort and general handling capability.

Other notable standard features include power speed sensitive steering, tinted glass, stainless steel exhaust system and rear defroster. Inside, standard equipment includes drive and front passenger air bags, full instrumentation, AM/FM stereo radio with digital clock, tilt steering wheel, bucket seats and split folding rear seat.

My test vehicle was equipped with air conditioning, ABS brakes, 16-inch cast aluminum wheels and a CD player and the price still was $300 below $20,000. Try to buy a foreign sport coupe with those options and keep the price under twenty grand.

A manual transmission is not offered when you purchase the V-6 engine and this marks the beginning of my gripe list. The second thing this car could use is a bit more punch under the hood. Lastly, the blind spots make it a bit difficult changing lanes.

Two of the gripes are merely my own opinion, however, the blind spots could be a serious problem for shorter drivers who are not accustomed to the vehicle.

Chrysler launched a tremendous ad campaign to introduce its two new additions to its family. The ads have slowly silenced, and yet I still do not see many of these magnificent beasts on the road. To the general public, I must say, "Drive this car, rent one for a week, because I guarantee it will impress after an extended drive."

I will admit it, once again, I underestimated a Chrysler product and it promptly slapped me in the face and straightened me out. Chrysler will need an awful large hand to slap the entire American population, but I am confident if they can just get people to drive the car, they will buy it.

P.S. Please, no takeovers! Don't ruin a good thing!

Corvette is an institution

The Corvette isn't just an automobile—it's an American institution.

More Corvettes have been built than any other single sports car in automotive history and more than half are estimated to be still on the road.

The Corvette doesn't simply compete in the sports car market—it defines it.

Corvette continues to reign as America's favorite sports car with a host of refinements in 1995. The coupe and convertible suspension's new low-rate springs and de carbon gas-charged shock absorbers improve ride quality.

Heavy-duty brakes with larger front rotors are now standard equipment (increased from 12" X 0.79" to 13" X 1.1").

New gill panels behind the front wheel openings identify 1995 models. One new exterior color has been added to the Corvette palette: dark purple metallic.

Quality improvements abound. French seams (up-level seats only), a smoother-shifting automatic transmission, and a quieter cooling fan system are evidence of the process of continued improvement. An automatic transmission fluid temperature readout is a new addition to the instrument panel display.

Corvette has long been a showcase for leading-edge technology. Its sophisticated standard systems include passive-keyless entry (PKE), PASS-Key II theft-deterrent system, and Bosch ABS/ASR anti-lock braking and traction control strategy. Selective Ride Control and a low tire-pressure warning system are available on Corvette coupes and convertibles, standard on ZR-1.

Corvette has a lengthy list of standard equipment, including a 300-hp 5.7 liter SFI V8, dual air bags, 4-wheel independent suspension, 4-wheel anti-lock disc brakes, power windows and door locks, dual electric heated outside rear-view mirrors, cruise control, rear-window defogger, 17-inch aluminum wheels and high-performance Goodyear Eagle

GS-C tires.

A ZF 6-speed manual transmission that incorporates a computer-aided gear selection system is standard on the ZR-1 and a no-cost option on LTI-powered Corvettes.

This year, 1995, is the final year of production for the awesome 405-hp ZR-1 Corvette—the ultimate performance option. Only 448 ZR-1s are scheduled to be built. When they are gone, that's it.

The milestone one-millionth Corvette rolled off the assembly line in Bowling Green, Ky. in July 1992. With improvements in comfort, performance and safety, Corvette is quickly accelerating toward its second million.

Rush to judgment?

'Mo' is out and Carr doesn't want Wolverine coaching job

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Sports Editor

What years of hard work and sweat put together, a night on the town put asunder.

The controversy surrounding the resignation of University of Michigan head football coach Gary Moeller, precipitated by an alleged drunken brawl at an exclusive Southfield restaurant, has hit home hard.

Former Westland John Glenn coach Lloyd Carr, a fifth-year assistant head coach on Moeller's Wolverine staff, who also coached Glenn from 1973-75, earning Regional Class A Coach of the Year honors for his 8-1 season, has been vaulted to center stage in the tragic downfall of a noted and popular collegiate coach.

Near tears, Carr lashed out at the media for its overkill of the incidents that led to

"It is a fraternity, a brotherhood that binds us together and it keeps us going."

- Lloyd Carr

Moeller's downfall.

"Rapists and murderers have been treated better than coach Moeller," Carr told a TV audience. He went on to say that the media assault on a longtime friend and colleague had been vicious and brutal.

Most of the area coach's agreed with Carr's conclusions. They also say that Moeller did deserve a "second chance."

Those who know Carr were disappointed that he removed his name from consideration for filling the unexpected vacancy, but they understood his actions.

Floyd Carter, former Wayne Memorial football coach who has faced Carr from across the gridiron, said that "there is a bond between coaches that are as strong as family, and in some cases transcending family."

"It is a fraternity, a brotherhood that binds us together and it keeps us going," Carter continued. "In most cases, we talk, eat, sleep and live every moment of the day for our sports."

"Few people, some times even our families don't understand this."

Carter said that Moeller did what he had to do - he resigned. "But to find a replacement this late in the season may prove fatal to the program. He is one of the best recruiters they have. He should have been given the chance to serve as interim head coach - to coach the team next season, and that would give the university an opportunity to conduct their search for a new head coach."

Another local coach, who requested anonymity, said that Bill McCartney, former Colorado coach who retired after the 1994 season, would be the perfect candidate for the job.

McCartney also informed the media that he would not be interested in the "M" coaching job at this time. McCartney is one of the founders of The Promise Keepers, a Christian's

Tigers lose pitchers' duel, 2-1

After disposing Wayne 6-1 earlier in the week, Belleville and pitcher Mike Kenzel ran up against a determined Taylor Center and Ken Stringer who won a pitchers' duel Thursday afternoon that lasted 13 innings before it was decided in the Rams favor, 2-1.

The thriller was a heart-breaker for the Tigers and coach John Bertz, who were riding the crest of a four-game conference winning streak.

The loss dipped Belleville's Mega Conference Red Division record to 5-2 on the season and dropped them into a two-way tie for second in the league.

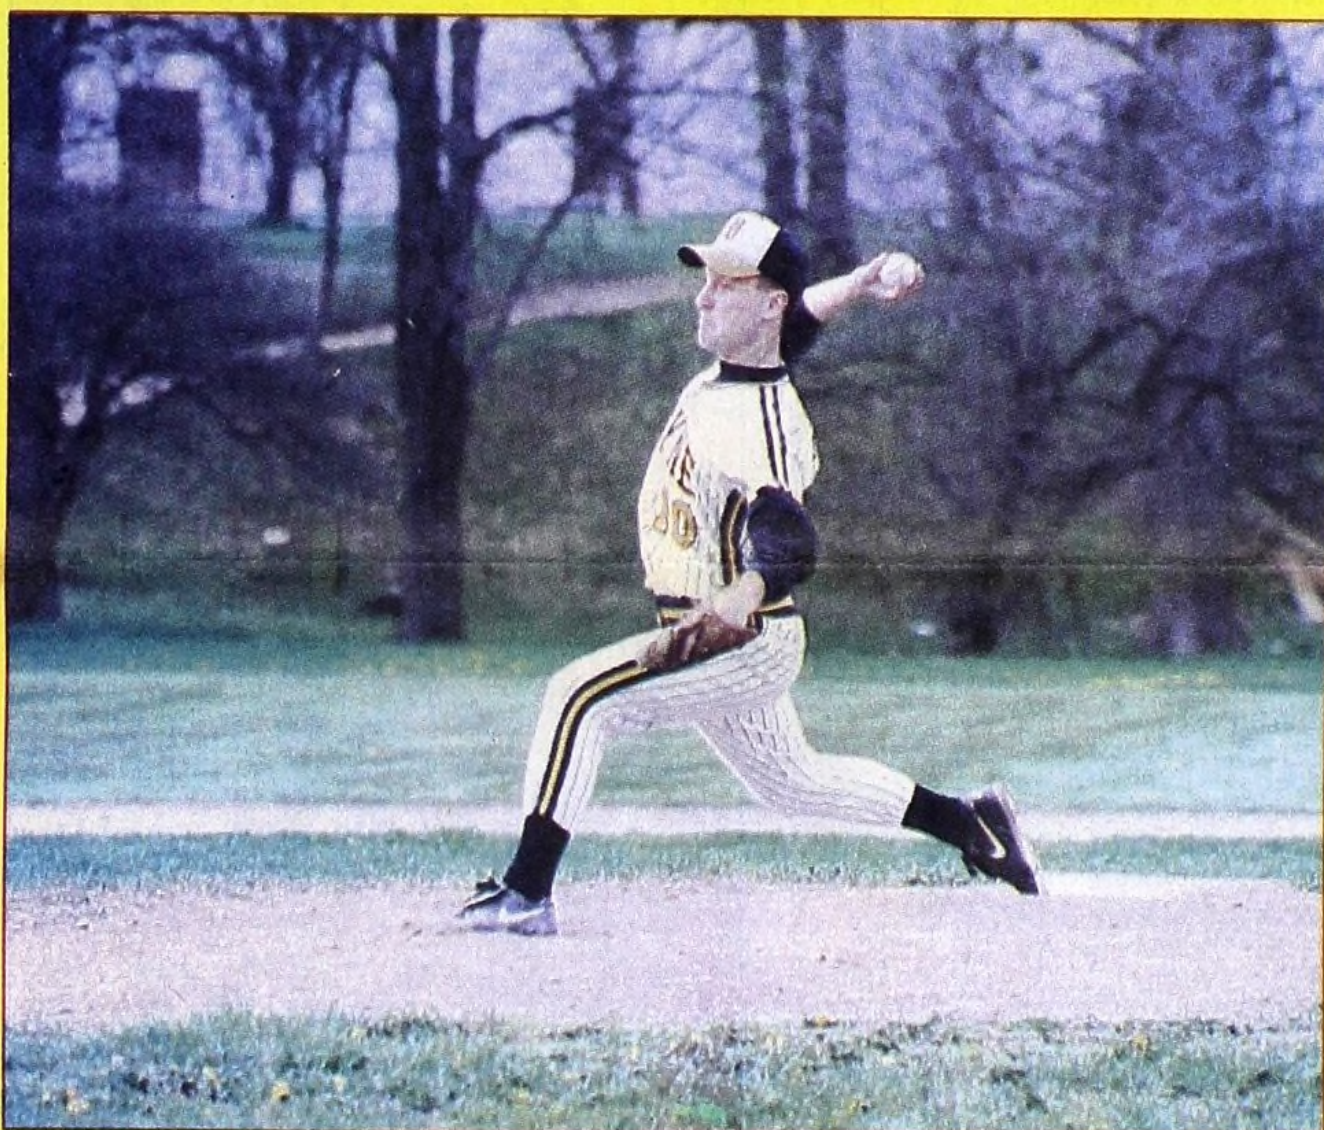

"It was one of those classic pitcher's duels that the fans really enjoy," said Bertz. "Unfortunately we lost it. Their pitchers did a good job on us."

Bertz said the two Taylor Center pitchers combined for 13 strikeouts and nine harmless pop-ups.

"When you consider that 28 of our 39 outs were easy ones - that's what attributed to our loss," Bertz added.

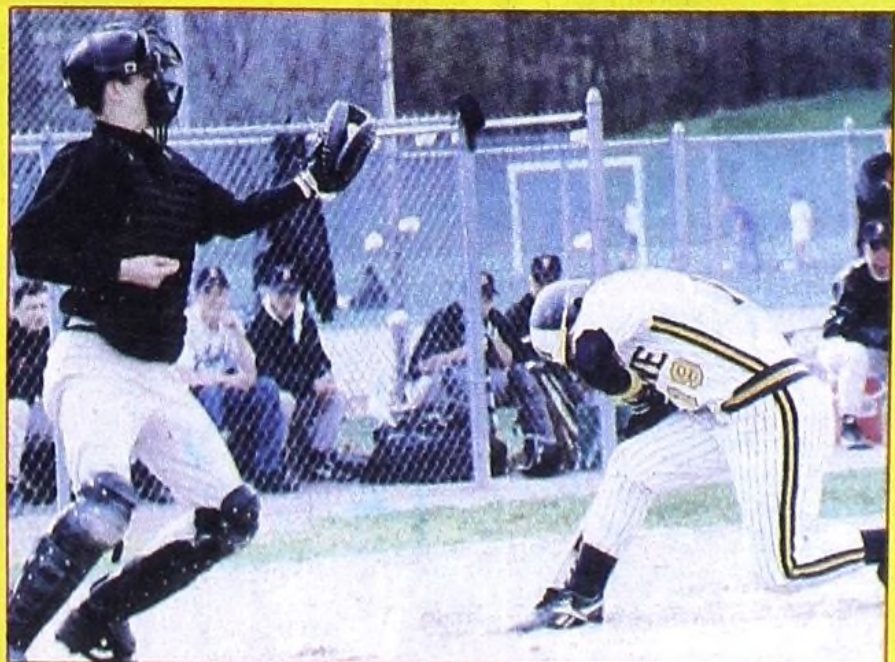

Kenzel and Stringer pitched near-flawless ball for nine of the 13 innings before their coaches called for relievers. Belleville scored in the top of

Eagles hammer Robichaud, 9-5

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Sports Editor

Romulus' Ryan Evans twirled a four-hitter and his teammates pounded out 10 hits as the Eagles turned back Dearborn Heights Robichaud, 9-5, in a non-conference baseball game last week.

But any Romulus plans of putting together a streak were shot down by Willow Run, 6-4, Wednesday.

Although disappointed by the loss, Romulus coach Don Foley said he was pleased with his team's overall performance.

"I thought we played well," Foley commented. "We're playing smart. And we're not making as many mistakes as we have been. I'm pleased with our progress."

Evans, a junior with a lot of potential, struck out nine and walked three in his second win in four outings.

Robichaud starter Tom Portillo, who gave up five runs in the third before his team got four back in the same inning, took the loss.

Portillo also drove in two of his team's four runs with a double in the fourth.

Evans helped his cause with three runs batted in, thanks to a double and a single. Mike Deaton checked in with three Romulus RBIs on a pair of two-baggers and a single. Steve O'Connor made his lone base hit count for two RBIs.

Romulus took a brief lead against the Flyers, who used four different pitchers against them. The Eagles managed to put one run on the scoreboard in the second inning then, after Willow Run erupted for six in the fourth, the Eagles came back in the top of the sixth for three more runs, but stranded runners on first and third.

In that seventh, Tim Roberts reached first on an error, was doubled to third by Shaun Lee and both runners scored when Locklear latched on to a two-bagger into right center.

Locklear moved up on a Mario Thomason sacrifice. Locklear eventually scored on O'Connor's sacrifice fly ball.

Romulus took a brief lead against the Flyers, who used four different pitchers against them.

The Eagles have three games scheduled for this week. After completing their commitment to the Keene Invitational over the weekend, they returned to Ann Arbor on Tuesday for a twin bill against Ann Arbor Huron. Then, last night, Romulus hosted Milan for their first home game in nearly 10 days.

"It will be good to play on the home field," Foley noted.

Romulus thinclads continue to run wild in track

Eagles (8-0) are off to best start

Romulus Track Coach Norbert Glover may have lost his voice shouting advice to his Eagles, but apparently that's about all the Eagles are losing in track and field these days.

Off to its best start in recent years, Romulus coasted past Dearborn Heights Robichaud 82-41, stretching their victory string to eight meets. For the past two years, under Glover's command, the Eagles have posted identical 5-2 records.

"We have a bunch of dedicated athletes on this year's team," noted Glover, whose runners are running independent and without conference affiliation. (Next year, Romulus will become a Mega Conference (Red) Division affiliate.)

"One of our goals this year is to go undefeated in dual meet competition and do well at regionals. That will help our program get ready for the challenge next year and beyond."

This week, Romulus will contend with Taylor Truman and Highland Park, two teams Glover admits he knows "little about."

"Our paths have not crossed, so I really can't comment on them," he added.

Romulus captured four of the five field events against the Dearborn Heights' thinclads as Waynard Shreves took the high jump event with a leap of 5'10". Nick McKinnie, nephew of former Robichaud High great Silas McKinnie, who starred for the Bulldogs in football, basketball and track, won the long jump with an outstanding 22'2" effort.

Romulus also won the shot put with Jason Dew, who had a put of 42'3", while Maurice Wood stashed the discus into the Eagles' win column with a 115'7" toss.

Glover's winning lineup for the 800-meter relay included Maurice Franklin, Tyrone Tabb, Patrick Thomason and Thomas Taylor who were clocked in 1:33.4. The Eagles also won the 400-meter relay thanks to Brian Tyus, Roy Chambers, McKinney and Thomason who posted the winning time of 45.1.

Taylor also crossed the finish line first in the 100-meter

Wayne finds easy pickings

With seniors Corey McClelland, Richard Buford and Kevin Riley generating six of their team's 10 first places, Wayne Memorial found usually-tough Dearborn Fordson easy pickings in track on Thursday.

Coach Floyd Carter's Zebras trampled Fordson, 80-48, for their third victory in four starts. The victory moved Wayne into a two-way tie for second place with Belleville, loser to Monroe last Thursday. Monroe is atop of the standings.

Despite a late start this season due to the uncertainty of funding, Wayne has managed to put a team on the field that has surprised many of its league rivals.

"We got off to a shaky start because we didn't know if we were going to be able to field a team," said Carter. "But these kids are really trying hard. And the results are reflecting their efforts."

McClelland, a member of the 1994 All-Area football team, came up with a career best in winning the shot put. His toss of 46'5 1/2" is also the area's best this season. McClelland also won the discus with a toss of 120 feet.

McClelland also joined Darnell Johnson, Derrick Johnson and Buford to give Wayne a victory in the 400-meter relay. The foursome was clocked in the winning time of 46.3.

Johnson crossed the finish line first in the 400-meter dash. His time was 53.1.

Now back to the field events where the Zebras took the long jump on Buford's 18'6 1/2" performance. Andrew Herndon successfully cleared 5'10" to capture the high jump competition.

Riley continued to look good in the hurdles. He ran a season best of 14.7 to win the 110-meter lows, and he came back and finished first in the 300-meter intermediate hurdles, posting a 41.0 for the victory. Wayne's 800-meter relay team comprised of Riley, Buford, Darnell Johnson and Richard Johnson also placed first (1:35.2).

Stan Stevenson gave the Zebras the 200-meter dash, crashing into the tape in 24.0.

Champs fall

Belleville coach says Tigers need aid after Monroe loss

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Sports Editor

Belleville's plans for a repeat in the Mega Conference was sidetracked on Thursday as undefeated Monroe handed coach George Devore's Tigers their first dual meet, Red Division, setback of the season, 87-50.

The victory established

Monroe as the team to beat in the conference this year.

The defending champs managed to garner only six of the 17 first places, and that convinced the first-year head Belleville coach his team was not prepared for the challenge for a second straight title.

"We are not as strong as we thought we were," Devore said. "And we definitely need to strengthen our half-milers and it is obvious we need help in the field events," added Devore whose Tigers are now 3-1 in the division.

Whether Devore can fill the void in time for the conference championships is questionable.

But Ian Gold did his part to turn things around for the Tigers. Gold sparked again. The

All-Area football star provided the Tigers with two individual firsts and also was a part of the winning 400-meter relay.

Gold took the dashes, running a 11.3 in his victory for the 100-meters, then turning around and covering the 200-meters in 22.6.

Nate Lewis' 19'5 3/4" jump in the long jump gave the Tigers a win in the high jump, and Erik Szyndlar cleared 6'2" to top the high jumpers. Belleville also received a victory from Greg Whitmore, who ran a 16.22 for the 300-meter intermediate hurdles.

Devore's 400-meter relay, which Gold led off, included a lineup of Lewis, Whitmore and Joe Manuel. The foursome was clocked in the winning time of 45.6.

the 13th off of Rams' reliever Ken Uzarski, who yielded a two-out RBI to Josh Flaig that scored Eric Harrison with the run that broke the scoreless deadlock.

However, Rodney Komaromi, who stepped in in relief of starter Kenzel got into trouble when he walked the Rams' leadoff hitter, then a fielder's choice backfired on the Tigers and led to a fatal error. Center's Jason Brooks then drilled his third hit of the game, chasing home the tying and winning runs of the game.

"This loss was a big disappointment for all of us," commented Bertz afterwards. "It was a big game that we needed."

But the Tigers didn't allow Wayne Memorial to get away from them. They knocked off coach Jim Chronowski's Zebras, 6-1, behind pitcher Russell Harris' six-hitter. Loser Scotty Wetmore was tagged for seven hits.

Belleville took a 1-0 lead in the second and then exploded for four big ones in the top of the fourth as Kenzel led off the inning with a single to right, then, after Wetmore retired the next two batters, Eric Harrison walked and when Josh Flaig laced a two-run double, turning it into a 3-0 game, Chronowski decided on a pitching change. But that did not stop Belleville. Russell Harris followed with an RBI single and Komaromi also drove in a run with a base hit.

Harris went the distance for the win. The right-handed junior notched eight strikeouts, however, he also issued seven bases on balls. Harris lost his bid for a shutout when Shannon Green walked to lead off the bottom half of the seventh and, with two away, Harris gave up a single to Ron Temple.

Belleville is 9-7 on the year (5-2 in the league).

Girls' track team small in numbers, big in spirit

By DUNCAN WHITE
MCN Special Writer

The Inkster High School girls' track team is waiting—waiting for the season to end and the regional meets to begin.

They have trained all season for these races and are expecting to do well in them.

Due to tougher academic requirements this year, there has been a substantial drop in numbers on the team, and, consequently, the five or six remaining runners aren't able to make up the points in their meets.

"They've been winning their events, but they just aren't winning the meets," said head coach Lasanya Brown.

Although the team is short on athletes, they're certainly not short on morale.

"They stay on each other," said Brown. "If one misses practice, they get on her."

Ms. Brown, as the girls respectfully call her, is trying to give them each a lesson, not only in track, but in life as well.

"This is my first year here, so I'm feeling my way through the athletes to get an idea of what they can, and cannot do, what their interests are as far as when they leave Inkster High School, whether they want to get an academic scholarship or an athletic scholarship, or to just go."

Sophomore Tawana Garrett, who is on the team to stay in shape for volleyball, says that she appreciates what the coaches do for the athletes.

"They teach you not to listen to anybody who says you can't do something, because you can always do it if you put your mind to it," she said.

Since all athletes must pass each of their seven classes while maintaining at least a 2.0 grade point average, the team attends a study hall before each practice.

Junior Lakesha Bynum, running her first year on track, is an example of this standard of excellence, currently holding a 3.9 grade point average.

Each girl must keep a positive attitude about their chances in the regionals in order to stay motivated each day.

The only senior on the team, Mariah Tatum, who will be attending The University of Baton Rouge in Louisiana, says that staying focused on her own races enables her to be optimistic about what she is doing.

"I try to focus on my own (races)," she said.

The team is irregularly small for a school such as Inkster, but Brown feels that the team unity is just as strong as ever.

"Although the team is small, the unity is still there," she said. "They still have the team attitude."

Her athletes feel this as well.

"We pray before every game," said Bynum. "We try to stay motivated regardless of the fact that we have a limited amount of people. We're usually pretty tired, by we give it our all every meet."

Ms. Brown seems to be doing the most with what she has.

She is beating the odds and has produced what is expected to be several winners come June.

But, those who are deserving of respect and recognition for their hard work, are the athletes themselves.

Those athletes who make it onto the platform come June, are the ones who will have overcome the greatest obstacles.

The pain and sweat, the testing of their wills, the late practices. They hope it will all be worth it.

Otherwise, it's only a losing season.

Promise Keepers was founded in 1990 in Colorado and last month its followers packed the Palace of Auburn Hills to hear McCartney expound upon the virtues of family.

In the meantime, Moeller has a date to explain to a 46th District Court judge in Southfield why he allegedly was disorderly at the Southfield restaurant and why he reportedly attempted to punch out a Southfield police officer.

The assault and disorderly charges will be heard on May 12.

Wayne put the wraps on the meet with a 3:45 finish for the 1,600-meter relay as Adam Montry, Dwayne Jackson, Jason Blanks and Richard Johnson covered the distance in 3:35.

Wayne will find out just what it takes to be a frontrunner on Thursday when the Zebras challenge undefeated Monroe. Monroe is the odds-on favorite to win the Red Division championship this year.

Benefits continue to aid ailing Canton youth

By GRETCHEN MADICK
MCN Special Writer

Fund raising activities are continuing to benefit a Canton Township youth who will undergo a double lung transplant this summer.

Greg Unger, 14, is suffering from cystic fibrosis and requires a double lung transplant to prolong his life.

Children's Organ Transplant Association, Inc. (COTA), the fund-raising agency supporting Greg's cause, reports an account balance of $125,475 as of last month.

The youth is scheduled to move to St. Louis July 1 and immediately be placed on the active transplant list. The list is very short for patients of his size needing lungs, so the family anticipates the surgery will come fairly quickly. Greg will need additional surgery to clean his sinuses before he leaves and this could possibly cause a delay in his return home, according to family members.

Greg was allowed to visit the locker rooms of both the Pistons and the Detroit Red Wings, following a practice and a game. He attended a Van Halen concert with his cousin, Brian, in a Palace suite with passes to go backstage following the event.

A Detroit Red Wings, old-timers game raised more than $5,000. Johnson's restaurant in Canton provided food and the Canton Fire and Police Departments played competitively against the former professionals.

More than $20,000 was raised during a law enforcement party at the Anchor Bar on March 9. Greg's father, Bill, is an IRS-CID special agent. Support was provided from various law enforcement and public safety groups.

A Bottle Drive is planned at 9 a.m. May 13. Call Rosie Varos for information at 455-4922.

Eight bands will perform at the Mosquito Club benefit concert at 8 p.m. May 20 at the VFW Hall on Joy Road two blocks east of Middlebelt. A $5 cover charge will go to COTA.

Five hundred raffle tickets are being sold at $100 each for a June 3 drawing at Dick Scott

Instructions

Associated Newspapers invite you to have fun meeting these singles who are also looking for that "Perfect Match". It's as simple as this:

1. To respond to an ad

By Phone: Call to meet them now. First, find one or more singles on these pages that you'd like to have fun meeting. Call 1-900-884-4777 ($1.99 per minute). By using our unique "QuickConnect" system, our operators can call up whomever you'd like to talk with, let them hear your recording, and if that person is home, the two of you could be having fun planning your first date together tonight. Or, you can leave them messages in their Voicemail boxes and let them call you back. The only charge for our service is $1.99 per minute billed to your monthly phone bill, and, of course, you must be 18 or older to call.

By Mail: Place each response in a STAMPED envelope with the code number marked

CLEARLY on the front. Put your response in a larger envelope, along with $5.00 per response and mail to:

Regal Eagles
801 W. Freeway, Suite 830
Grand Prairie, TX 75051

2. To get your FREE voicemail box

Simply call 1-800-ROMANCE Ext 1001. Our operators will quickly assist you in making your own FREE voice recording and assign you a personal recording number so that you can meet other singles.

3. To place your ad

Simply call 1-800-ROMANCE (1-800-766-2623) Ext 1001. Our operators will help you compose an ad, and we'll be happy to include it in the next available issue.

4. Retrieve your own VoiceMail messages by calling 1-900-884-4777 ($1.99 per min.), 24 hours a day, 7 days per week.

For more information, call Singles Telephone Company at 1-800-ROMANCE Ext 1001. You can leave voicemail messages and pick up your voicemail messages 24 hours a day. You can use our unique "QuickConnect" system from 9AM-10PM Monday-Saturday, and Noon to 10PM on Sundays. Have fun finding your "Perfect Match"!

CANTON RESIDENT FLYS KITES, FOR FUN AND PROFIT

Canton resident Joe Trennepohl's interests are the same as Benjamin Franklin's, only in reverse. Franklin made his claim to fame starting with a kite and ending up with electricity. Trennepohl gave up his career as an electrician, to devote seven days a week to his interest in kites and the kite business.

Trennepohl will tell you the history of kite flying and is available for lectures and lessons.

"Wild Bill Cody from the Wild West Show was a kite maker. The Wright brothers built their plane after a kite. In the 1900s the first bi-plane was modeled after a kite," Trennepohl said. "I do enjoy teaching kids. I think it's part of our culture. I'm always open to do stuff like that," he said.

China had kites in 1000 B.C. They spread to India, to Japan, to Europe and then to the United States, he said. Trennepohl gives talks on a regular basis at the Ann Arbor Public Library and has taught classes at Hoben Elementary in Canton. For the first two years he was involved in the Heritage Festival.

According to Trennepohl's wife, Marianne, he is kind of a celebrity in Japan. He was invited there to be the head judge in a November 1993 tournament. The expenses for the eight day trip were all covered.

In competition the precision movement of the kites is like an Olympic ice skating performance. Trennepohl judges a form of kite-flying ballet on choreography and the degree of difficulty, as well as artistic impression as the kites move to the tempo of the music. Teams of up to five competitors are broken into categories of novice, intermediate, experienced or master fliers.

Trennepohl is a master competitor. He has been third in the country in ballet flying. In the 1994 Master's Class he came in third in precision and fifth in ballet.

Another form of competition is termed Indian fighting. Single line maneuverable kites try to cut the line of their competitors kites in order to take them down. The last kite flying is the winner.

"I truly enjoy flying kites and I like to turn other people on to fly kites. It's something to be passed on as a cultural thing. I wish someone would have showed me as a kid. The appeal of it is growing more and more. You don't need to pay to play, as all you need is wind. The sport is outdoors, away from the television and is functional for families. It should be a part of people's lives," Trennepohl said.

The Trennepohl family is active in all aspects of kiting. Besides flying, they manufacture them in a Canton facility, and own the Kites and Fun Things store in Plymouth where they sell used kites at a discount as well as new ones. They have dealers all over the United States and Japan. They sponsor people to fly in competitions. Trennepohl teaches kite flying between 5 and 7 Wednesday nights at Schoolcraft College. The store sends out a newsletter detailing a calendar of local and national events for enthusiasts. As tennis racquets and golf clubs have benefit from the development of more durable and lightweight materials, the new kites aren't made out of paper anymore.

"They are easier to fly, lighter, stronger and more durable," Trennepohl explained.

Nylon kites are the best with plastic or fiberglass framing structures. A two-line kite has to soar and never stops, but the new four-line quad kites are more challenging. They can go backwards, forwards and launch from any position. They can be stopped in mid-air.

As an adult sport, up to five Flexifoil kites can be stacked together. They create so much pull, the men flying them can jump 20-40 feet in the air. Sport kites can go 80 miles per hour in a heavy wind. The world speed with a flexifoil kite is around 120 miles per hour, Trennepohl said. He explained flexifoil as a rectangular shaped kite with air pockets that inflate with the wind to give it lift.

"It runs our lives. We are dedicated to it," Trennepohl said. "There's not too many people doing what we do," he said.
